

Contributors

Jenny Siow (D.Min. Cand.) is currently serving as a fulltime pastoral staff in a local AG church in Singapore—preaching, teaching, and leading/overseer of Christian Education, Intercessors and Inner Healing ministries, as well as leading Care Cell life group with her husband.

Ngo Lam Khai (D.Min. Cand.) is a youth pastor at New Light Church in Yangon, Myanmar.

Lew Belcourt (M.Div.) has served as a missionary to Indonesia since 1999. He pastors an international church in Jakarta and serves with the Indonesian Assemblies of God National Missions Department (Unreached People Group team).

Ang Wei Yang (M.A.) is a M.Div. student at TCA College (Singapore). He serves as a young adult cell group leader and Chinese interpreter at City Harvest Church in Singapore. He is also trained in Chinese Intellectual History for his M.A., specialising in Neo-Confucianism's interactions with Buddhism and Daoism.

Joel Agpalo Tejado (D.Min.) is a member of the faculty at the Asia Pacific Theological Seminary in Baguio City, Philippines. He travels widely as a conference lecturer and has written a number of books and articles. He is currently engaged in a global research project on megachurches, funded by the John Templeton Foundation.